The Ironbound

The Ironbound is a diverse community of more than 50,000 residents. This largely working-class neighborhood in Newark's East Ward is densely populated and has a rich cultural history.

The Ironbound received its name because of the many forges, foundries and railroads that surrounded the neighborhood in the 19th century. This industrial history has left a legacy of pollution in the community.

Ironbound Community Corporation's (ICC) Environmental Justice Program is active in a wide range of environmental projects.

Environmental Injustices in the Ironbound

Today the Ironbound still suffers from the cumulative burden of environmental pollution from many sources

Ironbound is home to:

- More than 100 contaminated land and hazardous waste sites
- A Superfund site that contains the world's largest concentration of dioxin
- The state's largest garbage incinerator
- Major highways, including the NJ Turnpike and Routes 1&9
- Over 15,000 truck trips daily from Port Newark and Elizabeth
- Newark Liberty International Airport which brings noise and air pollution
- Very little green space, trees, or parks
- Numerous chemical plants, power plants, and the largest sewage treatment plant in NJ

Top Environmental Concerns Ranked by the Community

In a community-wide survey we asked residents what their top environmental concerns were and they told us:

Air Pollution

Lack of Trees, Parks, and Greenspace

Quality of Life Issues like Litter, Noise, and Odor Pollution

Unfair Share of Garbage and Waste Facilities

Contaminated Land and Groundwater

Flooding

*These results were part of a US EPA CARE Level I project,

Ironbound CARE Cumulative Impacts Project.

Ironbound Community Fights Back

Through the years, Ironbound residents have organized for environmental justice

Ironbound Committee Against Toxic Waste (ICATW) - In 1981, ICATW fought to clean up toxic waste in the neighborhood, and to prevent new polluters from coming in. ICATW stopped 3 out of 4 proposed incinerators from being built here, including the world's largest sludge incinerator. ICATW helped form a statewide group GREO (Grass Roots Environmental Organization) which defeated 11 out of 14 incinerators which were to be built statewide.

Passaic River Community Advisory Group (CAG) - In 2008, ICC and residents helped organize strong public participation in the Passaic River cleanup. They helped form the Passaic River CAG which provides the community a forum to identify issues that affect area residents, cleanup workers, and the health of the River. You can learn more information about the CAG at www.ourpassaic.org

Save the Park at Riverbank (SPARK) - In 1996, residents organized to prevent Riverbank Park from being demolished and worked to have it protected as a historic site. You can learn more about Riverbank park at <http://riverbankpark.org>

Stop New Polluting Facilities -

Residents continue organizing to stop new polluting facilities from being built. They prevented other incinerators and waste facilities from coming to the Ironbound.

ICC is also an active member with New Jersey Environmental Justice Alliance, www.njeja.org Coalition for Healthy Ports, www.healthyports.org

Community Prioritized Top Action Strategies

COMMUNITY AIR MONITORING

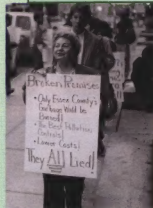

CLEAN UP POLLUTED LAND

BETTER LOCAL NOTIFICATION from the GOVERNMENT ABOUT PROPOSED PROJECTS that will IMPACT OUR COMMUNITY

ADD MORE TREES, GREENSPACE AND PARKS TO THE IRONBOUND

WASTE DIVERSION: RECYCLE, COMPOST, REUSE, REDUCE

CUMULATIVE IMPACTS: DEVELOP POLICIES to EMPOWER COMMUNITIES to SAY NO to MORE POLLUTION and to REDUCE EXISTING BURDENS

*These results were taken from the US EPA CARE Level I project - Ironbound CARE Cumulative Impacts Project.
